Weakened immune systems

Respiratory viruses are one of the world's leading causes of death, responsible for an estimated 4.25 million deaths each year. Sadly, the people worst affected are also the most vulnerable, our precious young and cherished older generation. Respiratory viruses are too small to be caught by HEPA filters. The patented Viruskiller™ technology inside Hextio destroys virus DNA, preventing its spread and reducing the chances that others will fall ill. Now everyone has the power to protect themselves and their loved ones.

Protect the ones you love - Young Lungs

From the moment they enter the world, children can be exposed to a frightening cocktail of harmful gases and chemicals. New furniture, paints, carpets and toys release formaldehyde gas, while cleaning products create a lingering cloud of chemicals. Nitrogen dioxide from the road outside can build up, and all this combined can result in environment that can permanently damage children's developing lungs and cause lifelong illnesses such as asthma. Fortunately, Hextio is designed to destroy all these types of air pollution, creating a clean air haven for children to play and sleep.

We Catch The Smallest Particles
Nano Particles and viruses are the most dangerous type of air pollution because they can reach the deepest parts of the lungs and be transferred into the bloodstream. These are too small to be caught in HEPA filters and must be destroyed.
